JOYRIDERS hijacked a dumper truck and drove it into fences next to a children's play park on Monday night.

Police say a group of teenagers was seen fleeing the scene in Haverhill's Arrendene Road when the incident took place shortly before 11pm.

The dumper was being used as part of work to create a cycle path running through the town.

Police were called to the scene at 10.50pm. They were told that youths had started the piece of machinery and crashed it into a fence when a member of the public stopped them.

The youths ran off in the direction of Withersfield Road after being confronted.

The dumper was left half-way through a metal fence that marks the perimeter of the children's play area, and had smashed the temporary fence used to cordon off the building site.

It's thought that the group contained several boys and girls, including a female teenager of larger build and a girl with a slim build and long blonde hair.

Police are treating the incident as aggravated vehicle taking.

Jack Darking, an operative on the site, said that the keys to the vehicle had not been left onsite, and the site had been left as secure as possible.

He said it was believed that the youths had jammed an implement into the ignition in order to start the engine.

While the dumper was not badly damaged, Mr Darking said the hire company had replaced it as workers be-

Festival backs rescue service

A NEW festival has raised more than £1,000 for a life-saving charity.

Bradfest, at Bradman's pub in Withersfield, was a three-day event lasting from Friday to Sunday.

Around 400 people turned out across the weekend, and events included a Bavarian band on Friday night and a ska evening on Saturday.

There were family fun days on Saturday and Sunday, and on Sunday evening Kenny Thomas, famous for songs Outstanding and Thinking About Your Love gave a special performance.

Bianca D'Arcy-Jones, wife of pub landlord Lee D'Arcy-Jones, said: "The Bavarian group were excellent because they got everyone involved, standing up, sitting down."

"The ska band came off

HANNAH MIRSKY

stage and started dancing with people. But the charity auction was the highlight."

The auction raised £1,121.55 for life-saving charity Suffolk Accident Rescue Service (SARS).

The event was opened on the Friday by West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock.

He said: "This annual Bank Holiday weekend of music and entertainment at Bradman's is a great way to round out the summer."

Landlord Lee chose to raise money for SARS after the charity's volunteer doctors saved his daughter Daisy's life.

The doctors, who are not paid for their efforts, came out to Haverhill to treat the little girl two years ago when a vomiting bug meant that her body salts were dangerously low.

She was just 18 months old at the time and Lee says she may not have survived without the intervention of SARS doctors.

Lee and Bianca, who have been running the pub since September last year, are planning an official cheque presentation to SARS.

They are already preparing to expand Bradfest next summer.

"Lee is going to do bigger and better next year," said Bianca.

The couple are also planning other events at the pub throughout the year, such as the launch of a new menu this September to mark the first anniversary of the pub's new ownership.

Warning over illegal puppy imports

RESIDENTS are being warned to watch out for illegally imported puppies – as they could be carrying rabies.

Suffolk Trading Standards has quarantined a Bichon Frise puppy which was brought into the country illegally from Romania.

The puppy, whose owners are from Stowmarket, received its rabies vaccine too early for it to be effective. It will be re-vaccinated before it is released.

Trading Standards is now advising residents to make sure they know where their puppy has come from, and to have it checked over by a vet. If you think your puppy has been illegally imported, call 03454 040506.

Mum beats height fears for teens' anorexia clinic

SCALING HEIGHTS: Shauneen Scullion climbed Mt Kilimanjaro to support the anorexia clinic

A TEACHER has conquered her fear of heights to raise money for the unit that treated her daughter for anorexia.

Shauneen Scullion, a West Wrating resident who teaches at Parkside Federation in Cambridge, climbed Mt Kilimanjaro in Tanzania to raise money for the Phoenix Centre at Ida Darwin Hospital in Fulbourn.

Shauneen's daughter was 16 when she was rushed to Addenbrooke's in January because of fears her heart would give way.

The teenager weighed around five stone, and blood tests had revealed that her potassium levels were dangerously low.

Mum Shauneen, 37, said: "The two consultants came out to speak to me before they spoke to [my daughter]. They told me to prepare for the worst."

"I thought I was going to lose my baby girl."

Her daughter was transferred to the Phoenix Centre, where she received intensive treatment from meal plans to therapy. She was discharged on July 15.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

In April, Shauneen made the decision to take on a hike up Kilimanjaro to face her fear of heights.

While the trek started as a way to better understand her daughter's fear of food, Shauneen then decided to fundraise for the Phoenix Centre.

She began her hike on August 13. The most testing moment came when she had to scale the Barranco Wall, a 257-metre-high cliff.

"I froze, I cried, I held everybody up," she said.

But she made it over the cliff and eventually to the mountain's summit.

"We got to the top and me and my friend didn't even speak. We just looked at each other and broke down and cried," said Shauneen.

The teacher returned to West Wrating last Thursday.

She has so far raised more than £1,800 for the Phoenix Centre. The money will go towards items such as a new Xbox and garden furniture for the Phoenix Centre.

Shauneen said: "It would be nice to get stuff that's going to be able to create some normality."

She said that her own terror scaling the Barranco Wall had helped her identify with the fear that young people being treated at the Phoenix Centre go through.

"I have more of an understanding when I see that look in my daughter's eyes because I relate that to me just freezing on the Barranco Wall and saying 'I can't, I can't,'" she said.

Her daughter, who is now 17, is still battling anorexia, but has put on weight and is living at home and preparing to return to school.

TV's Shappi shapes up for laughter

A TV comedian is taking her autumn tour to Haverhill.

Shappi Khorsandi, who has appeared on Live at the Apollo, Have I Got News For You, Loose Women and more, will be performing at the Haverhill Arts Centre this September.

Her show is entitled Oh My Country! From Morris Dancing to Morrissey.

It marks the 40th anniversary of the Iranian-born comic's arrival in the UK aged three, and covers topics such as patriotism and Britishness.

She's not the only big-name comedian appearing at the Haverhill Arts Centre this autumn.

The venue will also play host to Foster's Comedy Award nominee Seann Walsh in October.

In November TV regulars Steven K Amos and Lucy Porter will be taking their new tour shows to the Arts Centre.

In December British Comedy Award nominee Jon Richardson will be trying out new material in front of a Haverhill audience.

Khorsandi's show is on Friday, September 23, with tickets costing £15 (£13 concessions).

A memorial for councillor Tim

A MEMORIAL to a respected councillor who passed away in January is to be unveiled in a Haverhill churchyard.

More than 400 people attended the funeral of Tim Marks after he collapsed during a planning committee site visit.

Now a permanent memorial to him, in the form of a bench and a painted window, is being planned for a churchyard that he helped renovate.

The unveiling of the memorial will take place on Friday, October 7, in the churchyard of St Mary's in Haverhill.

Mr Marks was involved in Haverhill in Bloom's project to renovate the churchyard, which he announced almost exactly a year ago, on October 6, 2015.

His widow, Cllr Margaret Marks, said: "I don't think he had envisioned he would be involved in quite the way he has, but he will be involved to the end of the project."

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

The project involved, among other things, filling windows in the churchyard with brightly-coloured murals.

The final empty window shape will now be filled with a mural designed by the late councillor's son Jason Marks, who is a ceramic artist.

The design features irises, which were Mr Marks' favourite flower, as well as roses, to recognise his work as part of Haverhill in Bloom. It features a mayoral chain in reference to the time he served as mayor of St Edmundsbury in 2012 to 2013.

It also features Mr Marks' initials, TM.

A laminated picture of Mr Marks wearing his mayoral chain will be placed below the window, and a new bench in the churchyard will have a plaque dedicating it to him.

The unveiling ceremony will include Haverhill town councillor Betty McLatchy reading two poems in memory of Mr Marks and Captain Andrew Payne of St Mary's will make a blessing.

Dignitaries attending the ceremony include current mayor of St Edmundsbury Julia Wakelam and West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock.

Cllr Marks said: "I think Tim would have no idea of the esteem in which he is held."

The memorial ceremony is planned for 1pm, and all members of the public are welcome to attend.

Refreshments will be served inside the church after the ceremony.

MAKEOVER: Haverhill Community Sports Association facilities manager Peter Betts and Fiona Tokley on the new pitch at the New Croft ground Pictures: Keith Jones

New £700,000 pitch to open

A STATE-of-the-art £700,000 football pitch is being opened in Haverhill on Saturday.

These first-look pictures reveal what the new 3G pitch at the New Croft in Chalkstone Way will look like.

The pitch is to be opened by MP for Haverhill Matthew Hancock and another mystery guest. The pitch will be in use immediately, with youth groups and a Haverhill Borough match scheduled for Saturday.

The new pitch is made of artificial grass which drains much better than real turf, meaning that the pitch can withstand more usage and bad weather.

A new programme of activities will be announced by the Haverhill Community Sports Association in the coming weeks.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

The association's facilities manager Peter Betts said that the new pitch would be in use from 4pm to 10pm on weeknights and 9am to 10am on Saturdays and Sundays.

He said the sports association would be working with local schools to try and make sure the pitch was also used during the day time.

All in all, Mr Betts estimated that between 900 and 1,000 more young people will be using the pitch each week than were using the old grass pitch.

"Ultimately it guarantees football in Haverhill 52 weeks a year," he continued. "At a time when we are worried about young people getting out and about and getting involved in leisure, giving people that opportunity to stay active is really important."

As well as the new surface – which is the only 3G pitch in the Haverhill area – the association has also seen new floodlights, turnstiles, terraces and a refreshment stand installed.

Mr Betts said having this more professional-style pitch was "huge" for the two teams which play at the New Croft, Haverhill Borough and Haverhill Rovers, as well as for other football teams from the surrounding villages such as Haverhill and Kedington.

The entire project has taken just 20 months to complete. Mr Betts said he knew of similar projects which were still on the planning phase after two years.

COUNCIL

Decision on Corn Exchange bid

HAVERHILL's town council will decide on Tuesday whether to make a bid on a historic town centre landmark.

The town council announced its intention to make an offer on the crumbling Corn Exchange in Withersfield Road in April after a private buyer declared an interest.

This triggered a six-month moratorium period to give the council a chance to prepare its bid.

The moratorium period will end on September 15, meaning that the council has to make a decision imminently.

A Corn Exchange working party has been working through the summer to prepare a detailed plan for the council proposal.

At an extraordinary meeting of the full town council on Tuesday evening, councillors will decide whether or not to go ahead. The meeting will not be open to the public as sensitive financial information is to be discussed.

If the council chooses to bid and is successful, immediate work on weatherproofing the building and keeping out vandals will take place.

The council would then need to raise enough money to completely renovate the building, which could take two or three years.

NHS relies on its EU nurses

TWO months have now passed since the decision was made that the UK will be leaving the European Union. Since the referendum there has been much talk but little clarity about what happens next and the consequences of this result for all of us.

The Royal College of Nursing remains particularly concerned about the impact on the nursing workforce. NHS hospitals, care homes and other organisations across the health and social care sectors in this region and across the UK, rely on the huge contribution of nursing staff from both inside and outside the EU.

Figures show there are currently more than 33,000 EU trained nurses registered to work in the UK. The continuing uncertainty about what Brexit means for the future of EU nursing staff already working here and those interested in doing so threatens to worsen nursing shortages, already threatened by changes to student funding and the removal of bursaries.

We also continue to hear of cases of abuse directed at EU nursing staff following the referendum, and the assumption by some that they should have left the UK. Such prejudice is reprehensible. There must be zero tolerance of any such abuse.

The RCN will ensure that the nursing voice is heard as negotiations on leaving the EU commence and will support our members who are affected.

We must never lose sight of the fact that without EU nurses, our health services could not operate and patient care would undoubtedly suffer.

Carol Evans
Royal College of Nursing
Eastern region board chairwoman

Cyclist boost for heart fund

I AM writing to call upon your readers to sign up for the British Heart Foundation's (BHF) annual London to Brighton Off-Road Bike Ride on Saturday September 24 2016, and help fight back against heart and circulatory disease, which is responsible for a quarter of all UK deaths.

Last year, the amazing fundraisers who took on the 75 mile cycle challenge helped to raise around £300,000 for the BHF's vital research into heart disease. This year we want to raise even more.

By signing up to the BHF's London to Brighton Off-Road Bike Ride and conquering this popular event, the money you help raise will fund the BHF's research to improve the lives of those affected by heart disease every day.

A FATHER-of-three has thanked the emergency services for treating him after a freak explosion in his garden.

James Robey, 41, of Haverhill's Wentworth Court, was preparing to toast marshmallows for his 9-year-old daughter's birthday party when the accident happened on Saturday, May 14.

When he opened the door of the outdoor stove he was using, a piece of burning wood flew out. It ignited a bottle of fuel that had been left in the garden, causing an explosion of flame.

"It was like a liquid wave that came around me," said James.

The top half of his body caught alight, and he had to take off his clothes and roll on the floor to put out the flames.

He said his skin was coming off in his hands as he managed to get to the garden hose and turn it on, dousing himself in cold water.

"I was so happy to still be alive at that point," he said.

No-one else had been in the garden when the accident happened, but James' next-door neighbour climbed over the fence and got him indoors.

James' eldest daughter kept the children at the birthday party upstairs, while his partner Zoe Frost dealt with the emergency services.

James was still dousing himself in water when the fire service arrived, but when the air ambulance crew came he had passed out from the pain.

He was airlifted to Broomfields Hospital, where he was treated in a specialist burns unit and spent two weeks recovering.

"I didn't think I would ever look the same again," he said. "My head was like a basketball with how it was swollen up."

Less than four months on, while he has significant scarring on his torso, the only sign of the burns on his face are paler circles around his eyes where he shut them against the flames.

James said: "I want to thank everybody from the emergency services and say how grateful I am to still be alive. Their actions made the difference."

NEWS IN BRIEF

College to hold open event at town base

AN open event is being held at West Suffolk College's Haverhill centre on Monday.

The 10am-6pm event will offer free taster sessions of the September courses available. Visitors can talk to an adviser about training courses for business and get advice on apprenticeships.

The event is at the Menta Business Centre, 2 Hollands Road, Haverhill.

Family history day

AMATEUR genealogists are being invited to come along to a Haverhill Family History Group open event which takes place on Saturday, September 10, from 11am-4pm at Haverhill Library.

Registered genealogist Karen Young will be on hand to help visitors with their queries, and her colleague Keith Brown will offer to look up information on the Essex register.

To find out more contact Alan Bumpstead on (01440) 704157.

Teaching youngsters about their eye health

AN innovative back-to-school scheme is teaching children how to look after their eyes.

Every child who enters Wardale Williams optician in Haverhill's Camps Road in the back-to-school period will be given a pack which contains cartoon information sheets as well as activities such as crosswords and wordsearches.

CHARITY

Charity's ahead after hair shave

A HAVERHILL mother-of-three has raised around £1,500 for a cancer charity, after her father survived years of treatment for the disease.

Jacqueline Ager, 47, had her head shaved at the Queen's Head in Haverhill's Queen Street on Sunday for Macmillan Cancer Support. Her hair will be donated to the Little Princess Trust to be turned into a wig for a child cancer patient.

The shave turned into a fundraising event, with two bands playing live for free.

Around 60 people turned up and on the day alone Jacqueline raised £350. Combined with her online fundraising, this has brought her total up to around £1,500, when her initial target was just £70.

"It was absolutely brilliant," said probation officer Jacqueline. "I hoped it would be a good day but the amount of support was absolutely amazing and I was really overwhelmed."

HANNAH MIRSKY

Jacqueline, who lives in Haverhill's Cambridge Close, chose to brave the shave on Father's Day.

Having heard a Macmillan advert on the radio, she saw friends posting on Facebook in memory of their dads and says she realised how fortunate she was to still have her father.

Jacqueline's dad Roy Ager was first diagnosed with cancer nine years ago and in the following seven years he had four major procedures to treat the disease. He suffered from a number of different forms of cancer, including lung cancer and bowel cancer.

He has now been given the all clear, but his health has been severely affected.

Jacqueline said: "It has been a really tough few years because once my dad would beat the cancer, the doctors would then find that it had spread to somewhere else. However, he has kept fighting all this time and we are incredibly grateful that he is still here with us."

Although Roy has never had need of the service Macmillan provides, Jacqueline says she is well aware of the good work the charity does. Her initial fundraising target was to raise enough money for a Macmillan nurse to stay at a patient's home overnight, which costs £27 per hour.

She said: "This is such an invaluable service as it provides much-needed respite for the family and gives the sufferer some dignity in their final moments."

Market is jammed with crafts

THE last Haverhill craft and gift market of the year is to take place a week on Saturday.

The market will be held in the town's market square from 9am to 3pm alongside the regular Saturday market on September 10.

It will feature stalls for local entrepreneurs to market craft goods such as sauces, jams, jewellery, bags, vintage clothing, garden ornaments, homeware and cards.

The craft and gift market will be the fourth and last of its kind to take place in Haverhill this year, as the colder months set in.

It is one of a series of market events in Haverhill which have been put on by St Edmundsbury Borough Council across the year.

Other events have included the two-day beer and music festival which took place in July and the youth market and youth bring-and-buy sale.

The Gross rate is the contractual rate of interest payable before deduction of income tax at the rate specified by law.

The Tax-free rate is the contractual rate of interest payable where interest is exempt from income tax.

The Annual Equivalent Rate (AER) is a notional rate which illustrates what the gross interest would be if interest was paid and added to the account annually. AER on an account which pays monthly interest assumes interest is added to the account at the end of each month during the year. In practice, the option to have interest added in this way is not available on our monthly interest option accounts.

Personal Accounts

Cash Individual Savings Accounts (ISAs) and Cash Child Trust Fund accounts pay interest tax-free provided all terms and conditions of the account types are met. For all other accounts, interest will be paid at the Gross rate with no tax deducted.

Business Accounts

Interest will be paid at the Gross rate. The receipt of interest gross by a company will not prevent that interest from being liable to corporation tax.

All the above rates are variable. Tax treatment and rate of interest payable will depend on individual circumstances and may change in the future.

If you have any questions about this rate change, please call into your nearest branch or phone us today on 0345 601 4021.

Daredevil is fired up for show

A DAREDEVIL on a motorbike riding hooded through a ring of fire will be the heart-stopping centrepiece to this year's Thurlow Fayre.

Dangerous Steve, who is also a mean a unicycle rider, is returning to the annual event in the village after a three-year absence.

The fayre will also feature sheep racing, with children joining in by lying down in lines and having the sheep jump over them.

For those who are more interested in their next meal, there will be stalls selling jams, chutney, cheese and pies as well as other refreshments.

Admission is £2 for adults and 50p for children, and free parking is set to be available on Thurlow's village hall meadow.

The event runs from noon-4pm. Visit thurlowfayre.org.uk.

COUNCIL

Flats plan for antiques shop

AN antiques centre that councillors say attracts 100,000 visitors a year could be partially turned into flats.

Clare Antiques at The Mill in Malting Lane, Clare, could have its top floor converted into flats if a planning application is approved today.

Clare Town Council, in a response to the application, describes the antiques centre as the "biggest business" in the small town, and says it attracts 100,000 visitors a year.

The council response continues: "The importance of these visitors to Clare and the very substantial financial contribution they make to our local economy is vital."

Residents have also objected to the proposal on the basis that reducing the size of the business might have a detrimental effect on the town.

One wrote: "Antiques are a popular draw to this region and it is felt that a sizeable facility should be retained..."

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

in order to protect and preserve the vitality of Clare."

The antiques centre is housed in a historic 1920s mill for grinding salt, which planning officers say makes a positive contribution to Clare's conservation area.

The owner of the antiques centre, Chris Marchant, said that a partial conversion into flats was the best way to keep the historic building preserved, as it was expensive to keep running it as an antiques centre.

He said: "The maintenance, the rates, the overheads are extremely high. Some other income has to be generated."

Mr Marchant added that the creation of new flats met a need for smaller accommodation units in the town.

He said: "Clare does badly need one and two-bedroom flats."

He said that while he would continually review the options, it was likely that if the application was approved, some conversion would take place within three years.

He added that he had no plans to sell the property.

Residents have also expressed concerns about privacy if the conversion goes ahead, as 20 new windows proposed as part of the conversion would face existing homes.

But a planning officer's report said that provided the new windows were glazed and non-opening, there should be no significant change to the living standards of neighbours.

The report recommended that St Edmundsbury Borough Council's planning committee approve the application, subject to a number of conditions.

Councillors were set to make a decision on the proposal at a meeting in Bury St Edmunds this morning.

EDUCATION

Pupils take exams to whole new level

HAVERHILL's 16-year-olds have been celebrating receiving their GCSE results.

At Castle Manor Academy, the school celebrated a 9 per cent increase in the proportion of students achieving 5 A* to C grades in English and maths. The number has increased from 36 per cent to 45 per cent.

At Samuel Ward Academy, 72 per cent of students achieved 5 A* to C grades including English and maths – a slight decrease from last year.

Samuel Ward student Joel Ridgeway, 16, achieved an A* with distinction in GCSE further maths – after just three months studying the subject.

"I was quite surprised to see that," said the Haverhill teenager. "I had sort of been hoping for an A."

He and three other students took on out-of-school work and extra lessons during study leave to prepare them for the elite exam.

Joel, who plans to study maths at university, said he was also surprised by some of his other results, such as an A in music and an A* in history.

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskeyCN

Overall, the high-achieving student got 5A*s and 6As as well as the A* with distinction.

At Castle Manor, student Jadrien Apiado achieved an A*, a Distinction* six As and two Bs.

The 16-year-old, is going on to do A-Levels at Long Road Sixth Form College in Cambridge, and hopes to study biochemistry at university.

He said: "It's like the first step towards the future."

His friend Siobhan Hughes received four As, 5Bs and a Distinction*, and intends to study law after doing A-Levels at Long Road.

She said: "I'm so happy – I'm shaking."

This was the first year of a new method of recording school's attainment, called Progress 8, calculated through averaging students' results. A score of 0 and above reflects positive value added to a child's score, while a score below 0 would mean the school was under-achieving.

Samuel Ward's Progress 8 score was 0.7 and Castle Manor's was 0.

Samuel Ward headteacher Kath Just said: "We are so proud of all our students and the results they have achieved this year.

"As a school we always set highly aspirational targets and this has meant students have made exceptional progress.

"The governors and I would like to thank everyone concerned for their continued support and hard work."

Castle Manor head Vanessa Whitcombe said: "We are all extremely proud of their achievements and the hard work that they, staff and parents have put in.

"I know that our staff will join me in wishing students the very best for the future."

"Our results show significant improvement in headline measures and this is a very positive next step for our school."

BIG SURPRISE: Jadrien Apiado, from Castle Manor, is visibly thrilled by his GCSE achievements

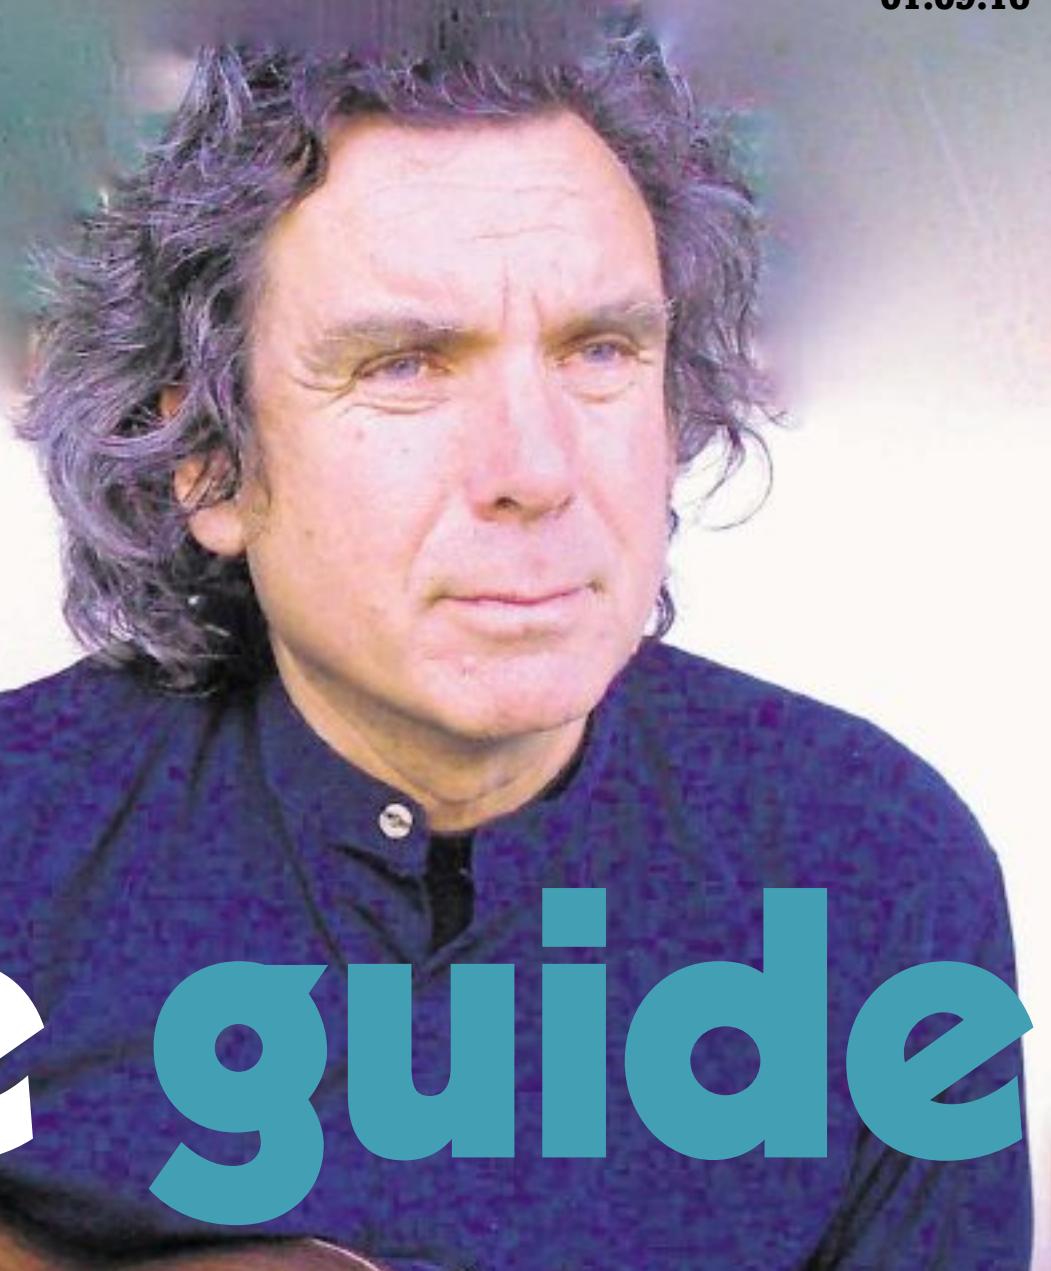

SMILES AHEAD: Hard work has paid off for Macey Iron and Bethany Whiting of Samuel Ward and Year 10s Livi Brown and Sophie Edwards are delighted at their results

MUSICAL PARTNERS: Highly respected guitarist John Etheridge teams up with talented saxophonist Hannah Horton's Quartet

John and all that jazz. . .

Feeling like a night of guitar, saxophone and sophisticated jazz stylings?

A September event in Haverhill is just the ticket.

John Etheridge and The Hannah Horton Quartet collaborate again for an evening of jazz at The All That Jazz Club at Haverhill Arts Centre on Friday, September 16.

Jazz-fusion guitarist Etheridge enjoys a glowing reputation throughout the jazz world but his range and influences are extensive after years of touring and recording with such iconic figures as Stephane Grappelli and Dizzie Gillespie.

He has played with other big-name musicians including John Williams, Yehudi Menuhin, Herb Ellis, Mundell Lowe, Nigel Kennedy, Pat Metheny, Birelli Lagrene, Barney Kessel and Vic Juris.

John was also an influential figure in the jazz-fusion group, The Soft Machine.

Highly-acclaimed jazz saxophonist Hannah Horton leads her quartet with verve and panache, alternating on tenor and baritone saxophones.

Together, John and the Quartet have proved a winning formula, having sold out their previous performances at the Arts Centre's All that Jazz club.

The show starts at 8.00pm and tickets are available from www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk or by calling 01440 714140.

■ Friday, September 2 – Friday, September 9

■ The Irish Show Band, The Indians, return to the Arts Centre on Friday September 2, 7.30pm. Expect some extravagant costumes, sing-a-long Irish favourites and lots of other hits. They have been on the road for over 40 years and went down a storm when they were here last year. If you need cheering up, for whatever the reason, this show is the one for you.

■ There's more 'happy' in store with the non-stop country and rock 'n' roll show Forever in Blue Jeans on Friday September 9. This whirlwind of a show takes all your favourite hits from the 50s onward – borrowing from the song-books of Patsy Cline, Garth Brooks, Elvis Presley, Billy Ray Cyrus, The Mavericks, Tammy Wynette, The Carpenters, Carol King and hits from the great Western Musicals such as Oklahoma and Paint Your Wagon plus more. The Red Hot Blue Jeans Band perform excellent instrumentals and the show ends with everyone invited to the Grand Finale of the Neil Diamond hit Forever In Blue Jeans. The party starts at 7.30pm.

■ Cinema this week starts on September 1 with The Secret Life of Pets (U). If you've ever wondered what your beloved pets get up to when you're not around this animated tale might provide you with a few answers. When Max the terrier's owner Katie is out he hangs out with other pets in the building: tabby cat Chloe, pug Mel, dachshund Buddy, and budgerigar Sweet Pea. But when Katie adopts Duke, a large and shaggy dog, Max's position as Top-Dog is put under threat and then a gang of alley cats conspire to get them both sent to the pound. And I assumed my dogs spent their days scratching, sleeping and drinking from the toilet. There are two showings at 10.30am (autism friendly) and 2.30pm.

■ Ben Kingsley and Patricia Clarkson star in Learning to Drive (15) on Monday September 5 at 1.30pm. As her marriage dissolves, a Manhattan writer takes driving lessons from a Sikh instructor with marriage troubles of his own. In each other's company they find the courage to get back on the road and the strength to take the wheel. There's a few metaphors going on in this film, I think! It's received great reviews, particularly for the performances of the two leads.

■ Jennifer Saunders and Joanna Lumley hit the Bolly bottle again with Absolutely Fabulous: The Movie (U) on Thursday September 8 at 7.30pm. There's plenty of schmoozing, outrageous behaviour and copious celebrity cameos, sweetie.

■ Arts Centre treats for the near future include another screening of Kenneth Branagh's Romeo and Juliet starring Lily James and Richard Madden (Sunday September 11, 3.00pm) and the premiere of The Beatles: Eight Days a Week broadcast live on Thursday September 15. We don't like to boast but compare and contrast our ticket price on this one (£10.00) to similar establishments and your purse will thank you for it! In case you haven't heard, this is the Ron Howard documentary of the Beatles' early career and features lots of previously unseen footage. The film itself starts at 7.00pm but get here for 6.00pm and you can see the red carpet footage too.

And finally, The All That Jazz Club returns on Friday 16 September with special guest, the ever popular John Etheridge.

Hyundai i10

HYUNDAI'S i10 is a no-nonsense city car that's cheap to buy and cheap to run, with excellent economy, low emissions and a transferable seven year warranty.

It has sold in large numbers here, so if you're not absolute sure about one, move on to the next and make sure the one you buy has full service history to make sure it's been properly cared for.

Hyundai's reliability has been very good ever since it launched in this country and secondhand i10 prices are very reasonable because of low prices new. They are all very easy to drive, manoeuvre and park.

I'll concentrate here on the model built between 2008 and 2013, which initially came with 1.1 or 1.2-litre engines.

This was replaced in 2011 by a new high economy 1.0-litre and a 1.25 four and the whole car was refreshed and up-dated.

The 1.0-litre three cylinder Blue Eco model comes with low rolling resistance tyres and other fuel saving tech that makes it very reasonable to run.

Good power steering, small size and an almost vertical rear make all i10s very town friendly and they even cope reasonably well with longer trips.

As well as a five-speed manual gearbox there's a four-speed automatic but this runs out of 'oomph' at anything above 60 miles an hour and is to be avoided unless you have to have it.

There is some wind and road noise but it's not too intrusive and the engine is smooth and reasonably quiet until pressed.

Handling and road-holding are pretty good, giving a fair amount of fun through the corners and although the driving position is not perfect, I didn't find it really uncomfortable.

There's room for four adults and comfort is up to other city cars, but the boot is tiny.

All have five doors and air con, electric windows, an MP3 compatible CD player, aircon, front and side airbags, folding rear seats and a height adjustable column.

Audi A4

IT may be the final frontier for Captain Kirk and Dr Spock – but for buyers of estate cars space is also very much a prime consideration.

Often, though, the extra load lugging capacity offered by these family wagons means we are forced to sacrifice some performance.

But that need not be the case if you've got £40,000 burning a hole in your pocket – because this 3.0-litre diesel version of Audi's A4 Avant is a roomy estate that refuses to compromise.

Available only in range-topping S line trim and with the German car maker's acclaimed quattro all-wheel drive system this is the flagship model of this year's rejuvenated A4 Avant range – and it packs a real punch.

The V6 powertrain is paired exclusively with a versatile and super-smooth eight-speed automatic gearbox and delivers sports car pace and acceleration, capable of 0-62mph in just 5.4 seconds and an electronically limited top speed of 155mph.

The lowered S line suspension, which has been totally re-engineered, along with well-weighted, responsive power steering and the assured grip of the quattro system also make for some dynamic handling. This is an estate that you can drive enthusiastically with total confidence.

Motorway miles are eaten up with ease while the car remains composed and well-balanced taking on winding A-roads and proves equally relaxed and refined even in stop-start urban traffic.

Audi's five-mode drive select system is standard across the range and if I were really nitpicking, then there's a split second's delay in throttle response when in 'comfort' or 'efficiency' modes.

Flick it into 'dynamic' mode, though, and this issue disappears as a sharp thrust on the gas pedal sees you gently forced back into your seat as the car takes off sharply.

As well as offering power, poise and pace, though, the A4 Avant is at the front of the space race too – the new model's 505 litre boot being 15 litres bigger than its predecessor's and topping those in both of its premium German rivals – the Mercedes C-Class estate and BMW 3 Series Touring.

Load capacity rises to 1,510 litres with the rear seats, which are split 40:20:40 for extra versatility, folded flat.

Kit levels are generous across the range and this flagship gets a seven-inch multimedia touchscreen interface with mobile phone mirroring capability, climate control, satnav, DAB radio, Bluetooth, automatic lights and wipers and keyless entry and ignition.

Typically of Audi, though, there is also a long options list and niceties such as an upgraded Bang & Olufsen stereo, heated seats, head-up display, parking assist, panoramic sunroof and adaptive suspension all helped to add a whopping £12,000 or so to the price of this model.

For that outlay you'll want to keep running costs down so it's good to see that even this performance-focused flagship posts a potential 53.3 miles per gallon on average with carbon emissions of 139g/km.

These figures do change to 52.3mpg and 142g/km with the optional 19-inch alloys my car had – but that's not bad for such a powerful car and is the reward for Audi's efforts to make the new model lighter and more aerodynamic.

Skoda Fabia

T has already been a fantastic year for Skoda and the Czech company looks set for continued success.

The manufacturer is currently achieving record sales and there seems to be no barrier to its strong growth. Earlier this year the car maker celebrated when the Octavia reached five million units, racking up more than 50 international awards on the way.

In July the respected JD Power company named Skoda as the overall winner of its automotive vehicle dependability survey in the UK – with the Fabia (pictured) and Yeti models topping their sectors and the Octavia finishing second in the compact car category.

Meanwhile the fantastic new Superb range has been boosted by the introduction of its fastest ever variant and both the saloon and estate versions continue to win awards and sell well.

But Skoda does not intend to rest on its laurels and later this year it will introduce an all-new large SUV which will feature seven seats as an option and introduce a new design language.

The Kodiaq takes its name from bears that live on a remote island off the southern coast of Alaska. It will share its platform with a number of other VW group products and will sit between the VW Tiguan and the larger Touareg.

The stylish new SUV will certainly give the profile of the brand another lift and more good news will follow as the new Yeti is due to arrive next year.

It seems there's no stopping Skoda, who now have plants in China, India and Russia.

The Czechs also have their eyes on the huge American market and it could be that the Kodiaq will be the vehicle to spearhead the drive.

Skoda are sure to bring out sales incentives and deals for the September registration rush so check their website or contact your local dealer as per the details below for further information.

Kia Niro in Cambridge and Ely

WHAT a car that uses less fuel than the one you drive at the moment?

Well, the obvious way is to choose something designed with economy in mind. The Kia Niro might well fit the bill.

Arriving on Cambridge and Ely roads this month, the Kia Niro is an eco-friendly, reliable and above all – stylish alternative to the more expensive and less efficient models currently on the market.

It is arriving in Cambridge and Ely dealerships for a bargain price (prices start at £21,295 and top out at £26,995) and the new Niro works hard to keep fuel consumption down, thanks to combining petrol power with an electric motor and big battery.

Without trying, you will see a figure comfortably the right side of 40mpg – even cruising the motorway at the same speed as all the Audis and BMWs in the outside lane.

But here's the thing; show a bit of restraint and that figure

THE NEW KIA NIRO: Eco-friendly price is yours for a price-friendly £21,295 will charge towards 60mpg and you'll arrive almost as quickly and a lot less stressed.

I know because those figures – 43mpg, getting a move on and 57mpg with a little restraint – shone out from the Niro's dash after a drive in two versions of this Korean-built newcomer.

Here we have a car designed from scratch to provide a family of five with enough space to travel in comfort with lots of luggage and not use too much petrol.

Helping achieve that hoped-for economy (up to 74.3mpg official average, but less in the real world) is a 104bhp petrol engine and a 43bhp electric motor that drive the front wheels through a six-speed automatic gearbox.

It will manage short distances on battery power alone but most of the time the moment, so it would be churlish of Kia not to oblige.

A VERY MILD CROSSOVER: Niro 'slips through the air more easily than most'

You'd have to say the Niro is a very mild sort of crossover; looking almost as sleek and squat as a hatch and certainly needing no higher a climb into the driving seat. The result is that it slips through the air more easily than most crossovers, to the benefit of fuel consumption and wind noise.

Even with both power sources at work the car feels simply fast enough, not fast – with 101mph flat out and 11.5 seconds to 62mph quoted. But it's all done with the minimum of fuss as the gearbox chooses the right ratio on your behalf.

Style-wise, the Niro is another entrant to the madly burgeoning ranks of crossover vehicles – cars designed to look like a loose mix of sturdy off-roadster and slick hatchback. The world can't get enough of them at the moment, so it would be churlish of Kia not to oblige.

You'd have to say the Niro is a very mild sort of crossover; looking almost as sleek and squat as a hatch and certainly needing no higher a climb into the driving seat. The result is that it slips through the air more easily than most crossovers, to the benefit of fuel consumption and wind noise.

The Kia Niro is available to test drive and order from Cambridge and Ely Kia dealerships today, including EMG Kia. To find out more visit the website on emgmotorgroup.com/kia or call (01223) 633767.

Vauxhall Corsa

If imitation is the sincerest form of flattery then the feisty little Fiesta S Red should be blushing with pride at the arrival of an equally red number from Vauxhall.

The new £1,7125 Corsa Red Edition is obviously aimed at the same sort of buyer (youngish, male, keen driver) who would dearly love to grab the wheel of a faster model but can neither afford the monthly payments – or the insurance.

So Vauxhall helps him out with a rather less potent but considerably cheaper (by precisely £1,000 over the VXR) version that aims to give similar thrills, if watered down a little.

Do it with conviction and, bragging rights apart, you'll have a car that's great fun to drive. Put it on our crowded, potholed roads and (whisper it) the slightly softer suspension and less aggressive throttle response might make it a nicer drive.

The Corsa Red Edition comes with a new turbocharged 1.4 litre engine, whose 150 horsepower propel the car to 129mph and reduce the sprint to 62mph to 8.9 seconds. So, perky enough for most.

Driven with restraint (hal!) you might approach the 49.6mpg the car recorded in the official test but it's very unlikely indeed to get anywhere near that in the hands of a typical owner. That's not what he bought the car for anyway, is it?

At least the 132g/km exhaust emissions mean a reasonable £130 annual tax bill and of more concern is going to be how the car looks and how it feels when he's showing off to his mates. We've all been there.

With chunky 17-inch alloy wheels and body coloured front lower spoiler, side sills, rear roof spoiler and rear lower skirt the Corsa Red Edition looks as little as possible like the shopping trolley Corsa STING that starts the range off at less than ten grand.

Add in a chrome-look tailpipe, black roof and door mirror housings – with still more black on the front grille bar and door pillars and here is a car that looks the biz simply standing still.

Dark tinted rear windows and lowered suspension ratchet up the cool look count, while the interior is given a sporty makeover with huggy front seats and fancy pedals and a leather wrapped steering wheel.

There's air con, electric windows and digital radio on the standard spec list, along with a switch to make the steering lighter, a feature that seems redundant on a car designed for the more brawny end of the market.

There was no need, or desire to select the city mode steering function on my Red Edition drive, where the feel through the wheel (which also usefully houses controls for radio and phone) was better than most cars at the price and fitted with electric assistance.

The gearbox has been fettled to make it more precise in this application (as though lesser versions need a less precise feel!) but felt some way less impressively click-click than I'd hoped for.

No doubting the spread of power, though, thanks to a turbo engine that sounds gruff whatever you ask of it and the car is precise enough on corners to make it fun, if the ride is less than forgiving.

The real question that arises; would you rather have the Fiesta S Red? It's less powerful, but £680 less costly and a lot lighter in the other sort of pounds too, so feels nimble on its toes.

You will need a test drive of both, which is no hardship, surely.

Peugeot 308 GTi

YOU can't help it – the frisson of excitement when the legendary motoring initials GTi are on a car.

This time it is Peugeot's five-door 308 that bears the hot hatch moniker – and more than does it justice.

There are two versions produced at the company's Sochaux factory in France – a cheaper 250ps model and the 270ps fire-breathing monster I drove.

Push the ignition button and the sparkling work conducted by the French motor manufacturer's engineers at Peugeot Sport is revealed as the GTi hits 60mph from a standing start in a scintillating six seconds on its way to a top speed of 155mph.

The athletic 1.6-litre petrol engine, linked to a slick six-speed manual gearbox, is refreshingly refined while performing at its optimum leaving the driver to concentrate on the superb handling which benefits from a reworked suspension system that leaves the car hugging the ground.

If all that isn't enough for you then press the Sport button in the centre console which sharpens up an already rapier-like throttle response, changes the instrumentation to be backlit in red and pumps extra exhaust noise through the speakers.

Performance figures to die for are nothing without control but have no fear, the car corners as if on rails with jet-fighter reflexes and lots of confidence-inspiring grip.

Similarly you need something that is pretty efficient at bringing you to a halt safely so the 308 GTi gets larger brakes with natty looking red painted Peugeot Sport brake calipers.

The ride is firm on the 19-inch Carbone alloy wheels, but far from uncomfortable making it a viable option for pottering around town.

It is not a massive gas guzzler either as average fuel economy is claimed at 47.1mpg while carbon dioxide emissions are 139g/km.

Climb into the cabin and you are immediately grabbed by the GTi Alcantara bucket seats with red stitching and Peugeot Sport branding.

It is well equipped with dual-zone climate control plus sat-nav and cruise control with speed limiter. A 9.7-inch touchscreen is the star of the dash offering access to all the car's main treats.

The fit and finish are excellent thanks to the quality materials used and the care taken screwing everything together.

There is plenty of space for four adults while the boot offers plenty of room for the weekly supermarket shop – with rear seats folding when larger loads need transporting.

The 308 GTi is pretty pricey at a shade over £28,000 but in many ways justifies this as it is a hot hatch for the family – if such a thing can exist – with a mature drive that will nevertheless excite thrillseekers.

Careers Adviser (Part-Time)

Careers Service • £38,896 - £49,230 pro rata

The University of Cambridge Careers Service is looking for a graduate with a strong interest in people and their futures to work as a Careers Adviser to research staff in the Schools of Arts & Humanities and the Humanities & Social Sciences. The successful candidate will be based in the University Careers Service, liaising with faculties and departments in the two Schools to provide career management support, principally by one-to-one consultations, workshops, and speaker events.

An arts, humanities, or social sciences background, and postgraduate experience and qualifications to doctoral level, are desirable. Ideally applicants should have experience of research careers and/or previous experience/qualifications in higher education careers advisory work. Essential personal qualities include enthusiasm, curiosity, objectivity, energy, asking power, and the ability to switch tasks frequently. Above all, the post holder will need to be proactive, interested in people, a well-organised self-starter, and able to work under pressure, both independently and in a group. Professional training courses are available. Appointment will be half-time (approximately 18.5 hours a week).

To apply online for this vacancy and to view further information about the role, please visit: <http://www.jobs.cam.ac.uk/job/11234>.

Closing date: 11 September 2016

If you have any queries, please email hr@careers.cam.ac.uk or telephone Tina Goode on 01223 338294. Interviews are likely to be held at the end of September.

Please quote reference DD09924 on your application and in any correspondence about this vacancy.

Maintenance Assistant (Temporary Cover)

Department of Plant Sciences • £16,357 - £18,734

We are seeking temporary cover for our Maintenance Assistant, 2 months in the first instance, with the possibility of an extension, to start immediately. The post-holder provides a service to staff and students who use the Department's Plant Growth Facility located at the Botanic Garden, organising transport of consumables and plant material between sites. They also assist in providing a general maintenance and repair service to the whole Department.

The successful candidate requires a driving license and knowledge of the building trade, especially electrical and plumbing work.

Temporary cover: This post is fixed-term for 2 months or the return of the post-holder, whichever is the earlier.

Once an offer of employment has been accepted, the successful candidate will be required to undergo a health assessment.

To apply online for this vacancy and to view further information about the role, please visit: <http://www.jobs.cam.ac.uk/job/11233>.

Closing date: 01 September 2016

For further information, please contact Catherine Butler, Department Administrator (cetk31@cam.ac.uk)

Careers Adviser

Department/Location: Careers Service • £38,896 - £49,230

The University of Cambridge Careers Service serves all 21,000 postgraduate and undergraduate students in all subjects, in all years, offering information and advice covering all career sectors. Cambridge alumni are also entitled to use the Service and are an active and growing constituency. Over 15,000 students are engaged with the Service and we work with over 3,000 organisations, running careers events and promoting their opportunities. Our advice and guidance entails helping students to research opportunities, make well-informed decisions about careers choice, make effective applications and succeed at interview.

This Careers Adviser role will focus on the technology, engineering and City fields of employment in the UK and abroad. In addition to working with students and alumni, an important part of the role will involve liaising with a wide variety of organisations active in supporting and recruiting from mainly STEM departments at the University. Applicants should be confident and articulate and have empathy for, and experience of working with, bright, ambitious students of exceptional ability. First-hand experience of delivering workshops and providing effective student-based advice would be highly desirable. It is also important to be interested in the way in which the graduate labour market is evolving and how students with science and technology interests engage with it. While ideally seeking an experienced adviser, the Service would also be prepared to consider well-qualified applicants seeking to gain experience in careers guidance or looking to move into this career from an academic or recruiting background, and will offer training. Applicants who applied for this job in June/July need not re-apply.

If you have any queries, please email hr@careers.cam.ac.uk or telephone Tina Goode on 01223 338294. The first round of interviews will be held on 1st November 2016.

Please quote reference DD09939 on your application and in any correspondence about this vacancy.

To apply online for this vacancy and to view further information about the role, please visit: <http://www.jobs.cam.ac.uk/job/11254>.

DIAMOND GEEZER

The gripping story of Brian Reader,
Britain's most prolific, old-school crook

Branded 'The Master' and 'a Gentleman Thief' Brian is a true British crime character. Gang insiders, family, friends and detectives talk for the first time about Reader's six-decade career. The authors reveal the Hatton Garden gang's links to an unsolved gangland murder, bent cops, police supergrasses and an alleged establishment cover-up. The book also includes new details about Basil, dubbed 'The Ghost' after he became the only gang member to escape justice.

KEEN: Youngsters who competed at Haverhill Tennis Club's 2016 Junior Open – Jonty Godfrey, Nandha Sivarasa, Oscar Barnes and Olivia Booth with coach Ross Tobin and Freddie Holmes

Tennis

Junior success for host club Haverhill

HAVERHILL Tennis Club enjoyed some home success when they held their annual junior championships.

The first win came in the under-eight age group where Olivia Booth beat Nandha Sivarasa 10-8 in the final. Jonty Godfrey was third.

In the under-14 boys' event Haverhill's Luke Marsh also came out on top. Clubmate Harvey Paffett was second and fellow Haverhill player Jason Butler was third.

Haverhill's Greg Birch won the under-16 boys' final, beating Alex Swarbrick.

Freddie Holmes and Marsh lost in the semi-finals, with the former winning the third-place play-off.

In the mini orange section, brothers Freddie and Alfie Paffett represented Haverhill, and both qualified for the quarter-finals.

Alfie was beaten by Flynn Godfrey, while Freddie lost to Louwna Hendriks.

Godfrey then beat Yinghan Ho in the final.

Haverhill's Tom Palmer was runner-up in the under-12 boys category won by Luke Byron.

In the under-16 girls' contest, Haverhill players Keri Tobin and Anna Becher met in the semi-finals, with Tobin winning 4-0, 4-1.

Tobin lost to Leticia Douglas in the final.

In the under-18 boys' event, Sam Howard was victorious, beating Birch, Swarbrick and Holmes.

Rovers comeback lifts them into second place

Football

A SECOND-HALF comeback helped Haverhill Rovers beat Godmanchester Rovers 4-2 and move into second place in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division.

Haverhill trailed 1-0 at half time after a disappointing display, with Godmanchester's poor finishing the only thing standing between them and a larger deficit.

After some strong words at half time, Haverhill came out in determined mood, and they equalised three minutes into the second half when Ryan Weaver won a penalty which Luke Haines converted.

Haverhill went into the lead for the first time in Monday's match just moments later when Rory Jebb scored from Haines' free kick.

But Godmanchester hit back almost instantly to make it 2-2.

Jon Milne put hosts Haverhill back in front with 20 minutes left, heading home a rebound at the far post after Danny Hill had forced a fine save out of the Godmanchester keeper.

The victory was sealed with 15 minutes left when Hill cut inside from the left and fired home.

"Godmanchester should have been out of sight by half time," said Haverhill boss Ben Cowling.

"The second half was much better. We made some changes and they had the desire effect."

On Saturday, Haverhill won 3-1 at Kirkley & Pakefield with a brace from Hill and a penalty from Harry Halls.

In the First Division, the 10 men of Haverhill Borough drew 0-0 at King's Lynn Town reserves.

It took a battling performance from the visitors to come away with a point, as their task to get anything out of the game was made harder by the 50th-minute dismissal of skipper Gareth Thomas.

Borough's defence, marshalled by the excellent Errol Durrell, were in impressive form throughout.

The Linnets dominated possession and Borough's best chance of the first half came when Ryan Swallow burst into the penalty area but was unable to get a shot in.

Thomas saw red for a clash with a King's Lynn opponent off the ball, and Borough were forced further back.

Swallow fired wide in a rare Borough attack, while at the other end the visitors dug in to win a hard-earned point.
